The image contains charts and tables related to signal strength measurements. The tables list various parameters such as Min, Max, Mean, Std, and Var%. The charts show time series data over different time periods, indicating signal strength variations over time. The text at the bottom is not clearly visible due to the quality of the image.